OBJECTIVE : The objective of the program was to educate the students and give an overview about research as it generates novel ideas , builds , credibility , and develops understanding and analytical skills so a researcher could implement his or her guts to rationalize the work and build a better foundation for followers in the career field and so they could take the right decision at the right time without facing hurdles . the webinar was presented by DR. TRIVENI MOHAN NALWADE and DR. SHILPA GUNJAL.

OUTCOME : The outcome of the program was that the students were enlightened with the knowledge been shared and were feeling confident in deciding the research topic. They were confident in deciding the research topic. They were conversant about the steps that should be taken prior to conducting research.

REPORT OF EVENT

TITLE	SCIENTIFIC WRITING BASIC AND BEYOND
SPEAKER	DR. AMAN CHOWDHARY , DR. PRIYANKA KAPOOR, DR. DEEPIKA POPLI
DATE	2 ND & 3 RD MARCH 2023
TIME	2 ND MARCH 2023 – 8:30AM TO 4: 30 PM 3 RD MARCH 2023 – 9:00AM TO 4:30 PM
NO. OF PARTICIPANTS	50
ORGANISING SECRETARY	DR. MAYURA PAUL

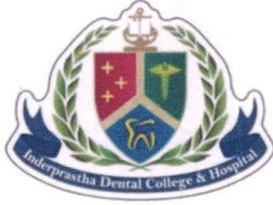

IPDC has effectively conducted programme "Scientific Writing- Basic & Beyond" which was attended by 50 post graduate students. on 2nd and 3rd March 2023. The guest speakers for the programme were Dr. Aman Chowdhry (Professor, Department of Oral Pathology, Faculty of Dentistry, Jamia Millia Islamia University), Dr. Priyanka Kapoor (Professor & Incharge, Department of Orthodontics, Faculty of Dentistry, Jamia Millia Islamia University) and Dr. Deepika Bablani Popli (Professor, Department of Oral Pathology, Faculty of Dentistry, Jamia Millia Islamia University). On the first day, students were benefitted by the didactic lecture on IMRad (Introduction, Methods, Results & Discussion) & the various guidelines to convert library dissertation to article which was followed by the workshop on "Manuscript Check Tool". This workshop enabled the students to have a knowledge to assess the quality of the manuscript along with the inter or intra-observer comparison. The second day started with yet another informative lecture on the ethics and protocol to be considered while doing any scientific writing. Students were introduced to a Zotero software for which hands-on workshop was conducted in which they understood the ease of referencing by abating the confusion during referencing while citing an article. Further on, there was another didactic lecture on plagiarism and paraphrasing which was followed by a workshop in which students were communicated about the various tools available for paraphrasing and the technique to use them.

This programme empowered the students about the diverse knowledge about the various tools available ranging from quality check till plagiarism check for good scientific writing.

OBJECTIVE: The objective of the program is to educate the students and give an overview about the wide range of applications of Biodentine in dentistry.

OUTCOME: The outcome of the program was that the students were enthusiastic and ecstatic and had a better understanding of number of applications of Biodentine in dentistry, including repair of root perforations, apexification, resorptive lesions, retrograde filling in endodontic surgeries, etc and are pretty confident regarding the handling of material chair side.

REPORT OF THE EVENT

Biodentine is a tricalcium silicate-based material designed as a permanent dentin substitute. It is biocompatible and bioactive material. Its interactions with both hard and soft tissues lead to a marginal sealing preventing marginal leakage and provide protection to the underlying pulp by inducing tertiary dentin synthesis.

This workshop brings a comprehensive understanding of Biodentine composition, preparation properties and the mechanism of interactions with hard and soft tissues.

It explained the scientific mechanisms of the induction of these specific functions and illustrated the scientific basis beyond their clinical successful use. It also provided an overview of Biodentine clinical applications. Unlike other dentin substitutes, Biodentine application does not require any conditioning of the dentin surface and the restoration sealing is provided by micromechanical retention as Biodentine penetrates into the dentin tubules forming tag-like structures. After setting, Biodentine can be cut and reshaped like natural dentin. It can also be bonded with different types of adhesives before finishing the final restoration with composite resin.

Speaker showed some clinical cases to explain that Biodentine has a wide spectrum of clinical applications as a permanent bulk dentin substitute in endodontics, in restorative dentistry, and pediatric dentistry as a possible replacement material of formecresol.

REPORT OF THE EVENT

Dental caries is a highly prevalent disease, especially among young children. The care of decayed primary teeth is crucial due to their role in chewing, speaking, and functioning as natural space maintainers in the dental arch. The treatment of dental caries in the pediatric population is a long-standing issue that involves various challenges, like behavior management and the need for a perdurable treatment that lasts until tooth exfoliation.

Hence this lecture focused on Stainless steel crowns and strip crowns for restoration of decayed teeth and help little teeth to smile again.

Stainless steel crowns are the most commonly used restorative option for repairing and preserving the remaining tissue of severely damaged and decayed teeth. Stainless steel crowns have outperformed other materials, such as amalgam and composite, in terms of durability and longevity. This program aided participants in learning clinical procedure and its modifications. Additionally, this workshop assisted students in dealing with common errors that are usually encountered.

The bonded resin composite strip crown is perhaps the most esthetic of all the restorations available to the clinician for the treatment of severely decayed primary incisors. However, strip crowns are also the most technique-sensitive and may be difficult to place. The purpose of this CDE was to provide step-by-step technique and to present some simple clinical tips to assist the Participants in achieving an esthetic and superior outcome.

PROSPECTS OF DENTAL SPECIALTIES IN BIOMEDICAL RESEARCH IN ICMR

SUMMARY OF THE PROGRAMME

TITLE	Prospects of Dental specialties in biomedical research in ICMR
SPEAKER	Dr. Showket Hussain
DATE	10th October 2022
TIME	Lecture: 10:30 to 11:30 am
NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS	102

IPDC has effectively conducted programme “Prospects of Dental specialties in biomedical research in ICMR” which was attended by 102 students and faculty on 10th Oct’2022. The guest speaker for the programme was Dr. Showket Hussain, Scientist C at ICMR New Delhi, and Ministry of health. The students & faculty were benefitted by the detailed insight into the various programmes offered by ICMR and were also enlightened about the Grants & Scholarships. Further on, it was followed by the various courses conducted by ICMR in the field of Oral Health & various funding agencies for the projects. They also got to know the steps to apply for fellowships, Extramural Ad-Hoc grant, and clinical training translational research workshops. STS program & Travel grant was also discussed.

This programme empowered the students and faculty about the different possibility of acquiring different research projects and scholarships for their benefits and to have a diverse idea about the career options in research.

A webinar programme on "How to write a winning grant proposal?" was conducted on 29 August 2022, between 10.30am-11.30 pm on Zoom Platform (Zoom Meeting ID: 89396912644 Passcode: 8m2xb8), At the outset of the programme, Prof. Dr. Mayura Paul, introduced the speaker Dr. Shanmugraja Meenakshi. The speaker addressed the listeners and explained about the various points to be considered while applying for a grant. Students and faculty could gather a lot of information such as about the various funding agencies and regarding the importance of thrust areas which can contribute in writing an effective grant proposal. They all got aware of the facts such as feasibility, need for the research, objectives etc. which should be considered while writing a proposal. Also, depending on the study which agency should be considered for applying the grant for their research. 90 faculty and students attended the programme. Both the post graduate students and faculty were benefitted from the programme.

LECTURE

REC

- Choose the appropriate funding agency...
 - Based on thrust area
 - Based on the recent funding activities

Tips:

- Look for special calls
- Look the vision of the funding agencies
- Look at the recently sanctioned research projects by the funding agencies
- choose the research question most relevant to current scientific need
- Read the guidelines very carefully

REC

Step No.3 Summary/Abstract

- Most read section
- Should be a gist of your entire proposal
- Should explain the following;
 - Significance/Need of your work
 - Objectives
 - Feasibility
 - Scope and outcome/deliverables
- Information/data have to be clear and explicit

Never use general/overall/unambiguous statements
